Students choose such number of optional courses to gain at least 180 ECTS credits in order to submit an application for the state doctoral exam. The minimum of 240 ECTS credits is required to complete successfully the doctoral study. Extra credits can be achieved based on fulfilment of other activities (please see below).

Internship requirements

Students are committed to experience an internship within the first three years of study. It can be held at a prestigious foreign university or a scientific-research institution for a minimum length of one month. The length of internship can be divided into several parts with a minimum length of one week. Internship can be performed by outgoing stay at an institution, participation in an European scientific project or other form of direct participation in international collaboration. Based on such activity, students gain from 20 to 60 ECTS credits. A certain number of credits is appointed by a particular vice-dean, based on submitted relevant documents.

Other study duties

1. Pedagogical activities

Full-time students are required to perform pedagogical activities in the number 2-4 hours per week in a semester during two semesters, usually within the first two years of study. The number of hours will be stipulated by a supervisor upon an agreement with a head of an institute/department. Part-time students can perform pedagogical activities optionally.

Pedagogical activity is evaluated by 5 ECTS credits for 2 hours per week in a semester.

2. State doctoral exam

FES/EZEKO	Economics	0	0-0	Sdo	SS/3

3. Defence of a dissertation (PhD thesis)

A prerequisite to apply for defence of a dissertation is a list of publications (at least one single-author publication is required in a journal with a non-zero impact factor, or two single-author publications with a non-zero SJR index; in case of co-authors, the shares are summarized; if a co-author is represented by a supervisor, the supervisor is excluded from sharing).

A student will obtain 40 ECTS credits upon submitting a final version of a dissertation at a study department.
